The kitchen is the room of rooms.
 We probably live more,
 and more intensively,
 here than anywhere else in the home.
 It is the place where we meet, where we encounter others.
 As family or friends.
 As a couple.
 We cook, eat and enjoy ourselves in the kitchen. And sometimes we have all the time in the world as we do so.
 We argue. And make up again.
 We read, write, send emails, post messages.
 And maybe philosophise a little.
 And – quite secretly – the kitchen sets
 the rhythm of our day.
 Good morning. Then midday. Then evening.
 And sometimes night ...
 Which is why we love the kitchen.

EVA BRENNER, NOLTE KÜCHEN BRAND AMBASSADOR

A familiar TV face in many homes across Germany, Austria and Switzerland: Eva Brenner. The graduate engineer in interior design hosted German television’s “Happy at Home – Moving into a New Life” series for many years. Doing so, she developed all sorts of interior design solutions, helping many families to re-style their home. Among other activities, she took charge of managing building work, designing interiors and planning kitchens.

Eva Brenner gets her passion for interior design from her parental home: her mother always made sure they lived in an warm, inviting and decorative home. Her father, a craftsman, would take her with him on building sites. At an early age, she developed an instinct for colours and furnishings. She trained to become a draughtswoman, studied interior design and, in addition to “Happy at Home - Moving into a New Life”, presented other German TV formats, such as “House of the Year” (“Das Haus des Jahres”).

Since her initial time on “Happy at Home” (“Zuhause im Glück”), Eva Brenner was also working in cooperation with Nolte Küchen – and became Nolte brand ambassador in 2016. As a professional interior designer, she is the perfect expert for presenting our brand. And together with Eva Brenner we are pursuing a key goal: to plan the kitchen as the focal point of your home and create a solution that meets your specific wishes, needs and available budget. Living in the kitchen.

PLANNING YOUR KITCHEN

HANDLE OR NO HANDLE, THAT IS THE QUESTION ...

There are two fundamental approaches to giving a kitchen a distinctive look: on the one hand, through conventional planning, which can be deliberately accentuated by a large selection of handles – on the other, with the handleless kitchen, which makes a clear design statement through its lines and, with them, exhibits a reduced style. Both approaches also let you choose whether to plan your kitchen in the standard carcass height of 75 cm or opt for the extra-tall 90 cm carcass.

Simple, logical, and clear: The cabinet design is based on Matrix150, an exclusive grid system introduced by us. It relies on a very straightforward and understandable measurement logic where all width, height, and sometimes depth measurements are divisible by 15 cm.

MATRIX900 by NOLTE KÜCHEN

20% MORE STORAGE SPACE

Coming in a carcass height of 90 cm, Matrix900 provides no less than 20% more storage space over the standard 75 cm height shown above. This makes optimum use of available space – particularly in small kitchens.

MATRIXART THE HANDLELESS KITCHEN by NOLTE KÜCHEN

MatrixArt is the design-focused, handleless Nolte kitchen: a maximum of two horizontal finger pulls creates a neat impression with graphic clarity. Tall units also give you the option of including vertical finger pulls. On request, all finger pulls can be illuminated, accentuating the kitchen's lines with stunning effect. This is where you can choose from five different colours: stainless steel look, arctic white, white, quartz grey and black.

MATRIXART900 by NOLTE KÜCHEN

DESIGN MEETS STORAGE SPACE

Needless to say, our handleless kitchens are also available in the extra-tall carcass height.

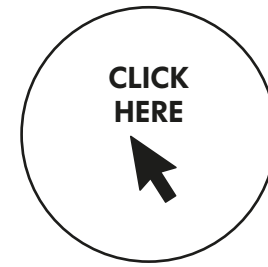

The very low plinth in conjunction with the 90 cm carcass height and the integrated finger pulls not only provide an ideal working height as well as 20% more storage space but also create a totally new kitchen look.

PLANNING YOUR KITCHEN

Colors, surfaces, materials, and style – we will show you everything you should consider in the planning process.

ALL SORTS OF DIFFERENT SURFACE FINISHES – TO SUIT YOUR PERSONAL TASTE AND BUDGET

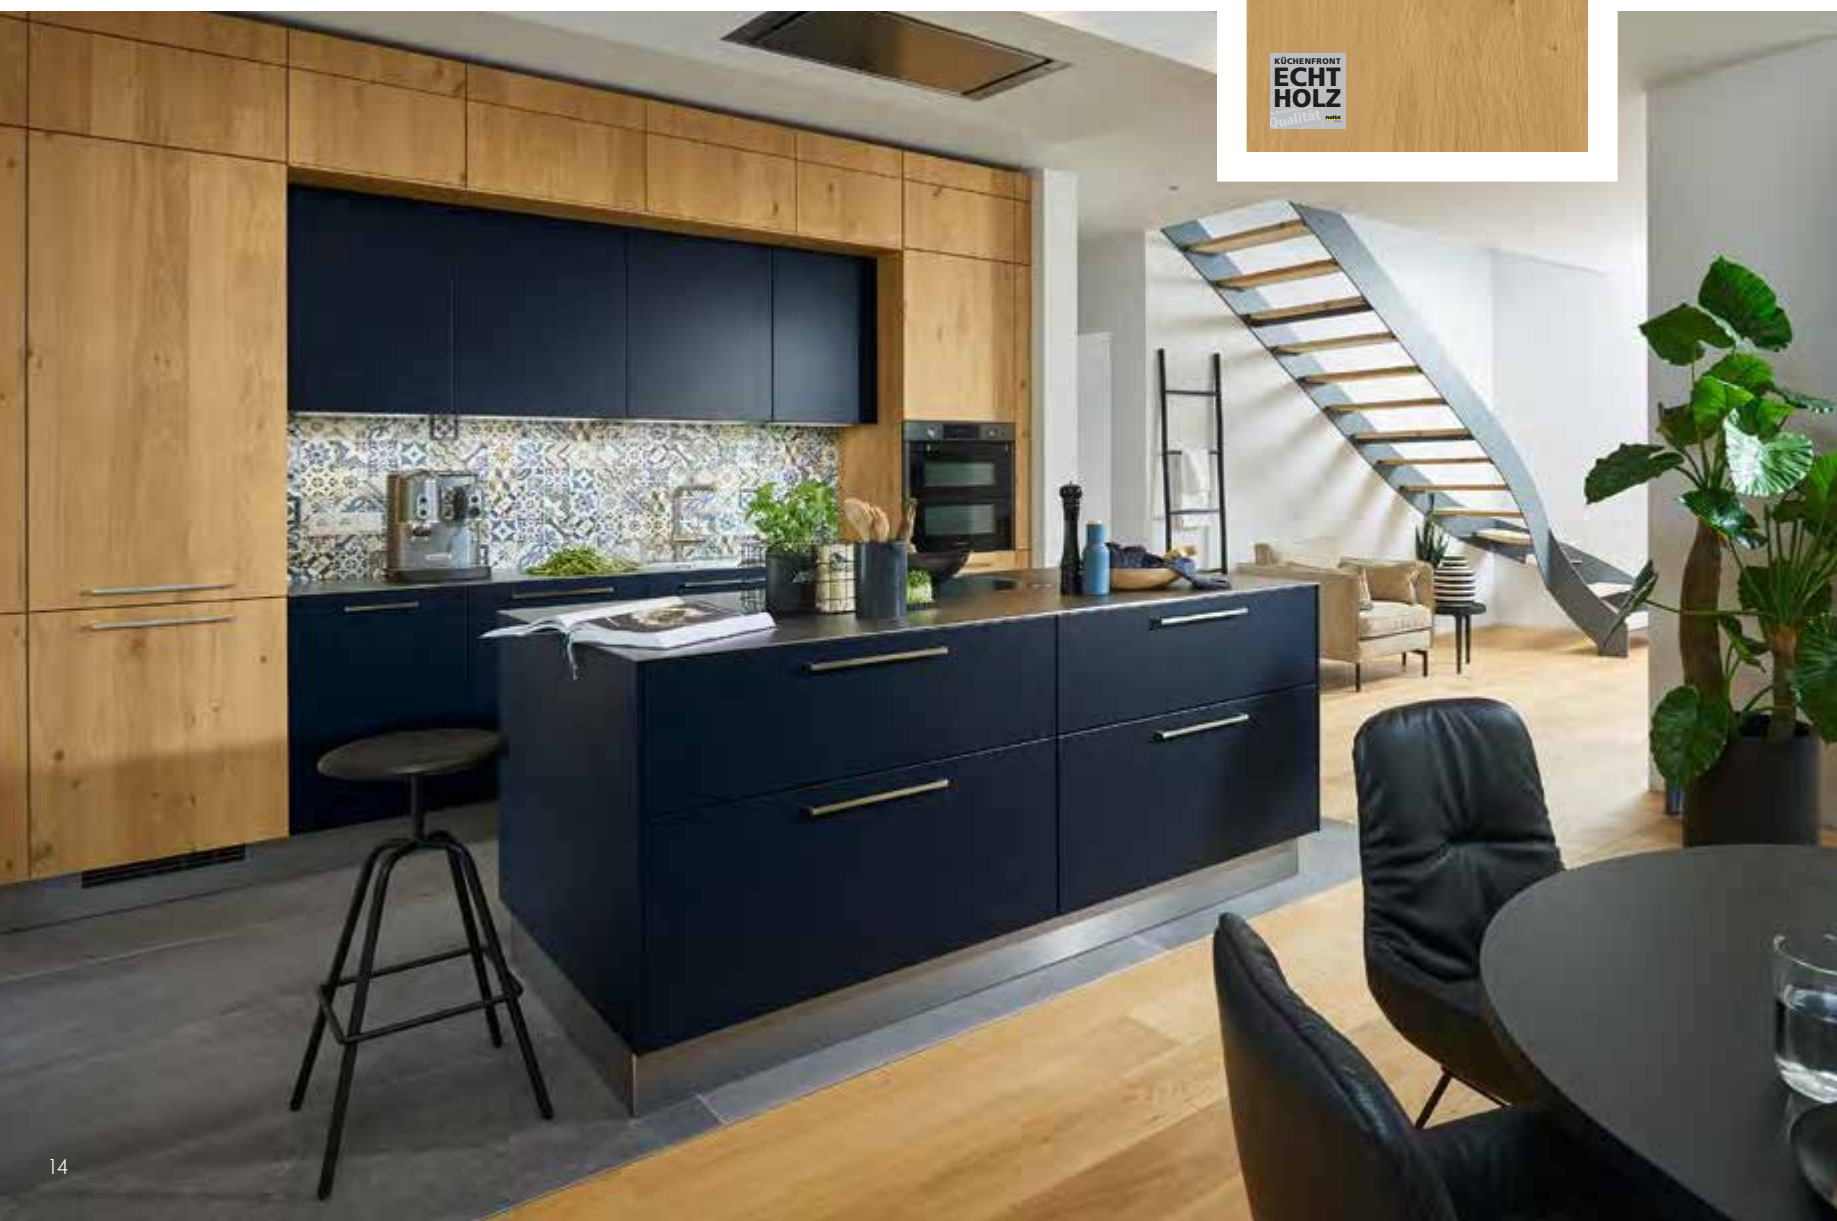

Genuine or reproduction – hardly distinguishable. Admittedly, both are hard to tell apart because, first and foremost, all of the materials used in a Nolte kitchen are marked by a feel of particular quality. Genuine materials, such as wood, metal, lacquer or cement, are the perfect choice for kitchen fans with exacting expectations.

But high-quality reproductions are also available for many natural products. These absolutely authentic surfaces are in no way inferior to the original and surprise the senses with perfectly imitated texture and colouring. They also meet the wish for individuality and something special in a way that is second to none. Now all you have to do is decide...

SOFT LACK

ELEGANT COMBINATION OF MAT COLORS

In this SOFT LACK, caramel and white soft mat shine as a harmonious duo. Caramel, one of a total of 20 colours in the mat lacquer concept, radiates warmth and lightness. White provides an aesthetic contrast. The caramel-coloured fronts create a seamless connection to the illuminated handle tracks in manganese bronze and the handleless kitchen front gives your room a modern and minimalist look. Cozy corners are not neglected here either: the integrated seating area invites you to linger and conceals additional storage space. In this way, you can combine aesthetics, functionality and cosiness in one kitchen.

Caramel soft mat pairs well with other solid colors but also complements many wood tones. For example, white is a beautiful contrast in this handleless kitchen. Overall, it creates a very harmonious overall look with refined details and cozy corners.

SOFT LACK

NOT A KITCHEN AT FIRST GLANCE

This kitchen is integrated unobtrusively into the living area and is almost unrecognisable being one at all. Clever planning, however, gives it all the attributes of a modern kitchen – but only at second glance.

FEEL

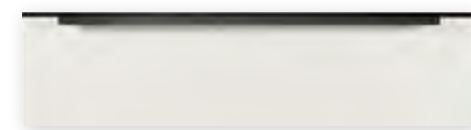

HIGH QUALITY THAT'S NOTICED

Dark natural stone, light grey fronts and minimalist handles give this kitchen timeless elegance. Added to this, there are other details such as a flush-mounted sink and a unit integrated in the wall for electrical appliances and storage. And with the addition of a small bar counter, you will create a room that you won't want to leave in a hurry.

Every level well illuminated: How often have you hunted for something in the darkest recesses of a drawer? Put an end to all this with interior lighting.

PLENTY OF ROOM FOR THE ROOM

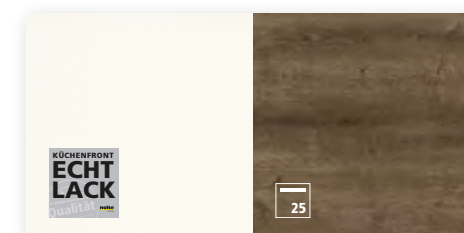

Despite its compact size, this kitchen gives a generous feeling of space. Besides doing away with classic handles, this is also attributable to the absence of any floor-to-ceiling tall and appliance units.

LOTS OF SPACE IN A SMALL AREA

With rising property prices and limited living space, small apartments and houses have become increasingly popular in recent years. Sustainability plays a significant role in this trend. No matter how small the home is, the interior should be cozy and individually designed to one's taste. Sloping ceilings and nooks require creative design ideas to make the most of the limited space. With Nolte Küchen's smart planning ideas, design, budget, and functionality can be efficiently combined. Reproductions of modern materials such as concrete, stone, and wood offer visually appealing design options on a tight budget. However, enthusiasts of real materials can also find satisfaction, as wood, metal, lacquer, glass, cement, or stone meet even the highest aesthetic standards.

In the following pages, we will show you how to make your home comfortable and functional even in the smallest of spaces.

On the following pages, you will find excerpts from this living concept.

STUDENT'S PAD SMART STORAGE PLANNING

Students and career starters often have only a small room to call their home. The key here is to stay cool and plan the one-room flat with strategy. Here, it makes sense to plan storage space vertically – from floor to ceiling. Tip: make use of full room height and consider using wall units with a height of up to 135 cm in planning the space that's available. Extra deep wall units and base units also provide valuable additional storage space.

MICRO APARTMENT LOVELY HOME ON A FEW SQUARE METRES

Less can be also more. Those starting their professional life in a big city or living as a single often choose a micro-apartment because it is typically more affordable than a multi-room apartment. It's entirely possible to live well in 24 square meters, as the kitchen, wardrobe, and bathroom have been designed to be functional and space-saving. The key is to arrange everything in a way that the apartment radiates coziness despite its small size. Are everything well-coordinated, the space well-utilized, and areas sensibly defined? Compact furniture and homeliness are not contradictory!

SLOPING CEILING UTILISING EVERY INCH OF SPACE

4th floor, about 50 square metres, sloping ceilings: mother and child living together in a small space – this calls for creative planning. Yet storage space galore can be created in oddly shaped spaces too. Whether narrow passages, alcoves or spaces with sloping ceilings: anyone with clever planning ideas can create a homely and inviting kitchen with shelves, low wall units and a variety of corner solutions. The adjacent wardrobe complements the kitchen perfectly, offering ample space for clothing and more.

PERIOD PROPERTY HISTORIC CHARME MEETS URBAN STYLE

Furnishing an old apartment in a big city requires special skill since often beautiful stucco ornaments run along the ceiling or masonry walls need to be preserved. Furthermore, the old building offers the opportunity to live in an urban style and create a very special ambiance. Planning requires sensitivity, a clever touch, and of course, innovative ideas. For example, a real wood kitchen front can emphasize the character of the construction and create an inviting atmosphere. But not only the kitchen is equipped with the real wood program TAVOLA. Behind the closed design front, a practical utility room can be stylishly concealed. And there are more areas in this old apartment that you can discover in the video.

“When I had finished decorating my new kitchen, I thought: This is exactly how I had imagined it. This is where we can be happy!”

What makes your apartment so special?

Our apartment is located in an old building, and it has a unique charme for me. I can't imagine living in a home with ceilings that are only 2.50 meters high. High ceilings represent a higher quality of life for me. The spacious rooms offer many design possibilities, allowing for creative expression.

What did you think when you first saw your new kitchen?

The first thing that caught my eye was the color, and initially, I had some doubts about my decision. Originally, we had planned for an olive tone, and I still had this green color with a warm wood decor in my mind. However, that feeling quickly faded because once I had styled everything, turned on the lights, and added the textiles, I thought: Yes, this is exactly how I had imagined it, and this is where we can be happy!

Which role does sustainability play for you?

Sustainability is very important to us. That's why we placed special emphasis on partnering with a company that shares the same values as us when it comes to designing our kitchen. That's how we came to choose Nolte.

What were the absolute “Must-haves” for your kitchen?

My personal “Must-haves” were definitely a good refrigerator and plenty of storage space. In our family of four, a lot of things accumulate, and they need to be well-organized and stored. So, we needed a large countertop and storage space for additional appliances, such as kitchen machines.

Do you have three tips to bring more coziness into the apartment?

My absolute secret tip is decorating with textiles. An empty, bare room quickly becomes cozy when I add a few pillows or blankets. The same goes for plants because their fresh greenery brings life to the apartment and adds a touch of relaxation to the overall look. And tip number three is lighting to create mood and coziness.

How did you actually come to Berlin?

I moved to Berlin after completing my studies and initially took an underpaid job. I settled in, made friends, and thus took my first step into the world of Berlin. Gradually, I continued to develop and ended up where I am today.

What sets the city apart for you?

Berlin is a diverse melting pot of people. It's like being abroad but still living in Germany, and I find that incredibly beautiful.

What does “living in the kitchen” mean to you?

“Living in the kitchen” for me means eating together. In our kitchen, we are either busy cooking and preparing or sitting together while one of us is cooking. This is the essence of our kitchen and continues to be very important to us.

Explore the home of Kim @kim_terieur in this home story. She shares her passion for interior design and takes us on a journey through her house. Kim has chosen a black-and-white combination for her kitchen, which serves as the centerpiece of her decor.

Nolte Küchen X @kim_terieur

“You don’t always have to go with the flow.”

What inspired you to share your passion for interior design on Instagram with others?

I started with interior design on Instagram more out of boredom. Back then, when I began posting more actively, I had 294 followers (a number I will never forget).

Is Instagram more of a hobby for you, or has it turned into a profession?

I would be lying if I said it's just a hobby. Some good opportunities have arisen from it, allowing us to go on vacation more than usual. However, I still do it because I really enjoy interacting with people, inspiring them, and, of course, finding inspiration from others as well.

What inspired you to choose a classic black-and-white combination for your kitchen design?

We wanted a kitchen that was stylish but also timeless. That's how I came up with the idea of mixing black and white. The mat fronts, paired with the high-gloss fronts, in my opinion, look great and yet remain simple, allowing for easy use of accessories.

A highlight in your kitchen is definitely the black kitchen island with an attached counter.

How did you come up with this unique idea?

My dream was always to have a kitchen with seating. In my childhood, we always had very small kitchens that weren't inviting for sitting and chatting while preparing food. I really like the idea of being able to sit there or look out the windows.

A kitchen island is a place for communication.

Is it an important spot in your house?

Our entire kitchen is the heart of the house. Whether you're standing in the driveway and looking through the large windows, sitting at the dining table, or strolling through the garden, the kitchen is visible from everywhere and had to be perfect. I believe we've done a pretty good job with it.

Did you plan your kitchen yourself or did you seek advice from a kitchen studio?

We went to a kitchen studio. However, I already knew exactly how I wanted the kitchen to look. But I left the fine-tuning of the planning to the specialist.

What kitchen design trends currently inspire you the most?

Honestly, I'm not very well-versed in trends. I just do what I like and what I think looks good. You don't always have to go with the flow.

Where did the idea of setting up a utility room in your home come from?

I already had such a room integrated into my first apartment. Since then, I've known how practical it is to be able to do household chores here. However, that room wasn't particularly attractive, and we wanted to change that when planning our house. This is where Nolte Küchen came in as a reliable partner. Together, we designed a utility room that is very well thought out and looks so good that it feels like a living space.

What inspired you in the design process?

During our tour of the Nolte Forum, we had the opportunity to explore the entire range of Nolte Küchen and found inspiration. The many different fronts and décors overwhelmed us, and we had a hard time deciding because the selection was so vast. Eventually, the final idea emerged from these great impressions.

What was most important to you in the planning process?

When thinking about a utility room, one often envisions a dark, cold room that is typically located in the basement. Therefore, the new space was meant to be bright, friendly, and cozy. Because household chores are inevitable and should be done in a place where one enjoys spending time.

What were your "Must-haves" that absolutely had to be included?

Having enough storage space was very important to me. Especially when it comes to household chores, there are many utensils that need to be stored conveniently. There also needs to be enough space for laundry, and ideally, the utility room can also store shoes and bedding. Additionally, we wanted to store our groceries here in the future. To accommodate all of this, we had enough cabinets, drawers, and shelves installed to store everything well and create a cohesive, aesthetic overall look.

"The very first draft impressed us so much that we adopted it exactly as it was. A space has emerged that fits us perfectly."

Which appliances were meant to be accommodated in your utility room?

In advance, we already had two washing machines and two dryers that needed to be integrated. Nolte recommended that we install them at waist height to reduce the need for bending over frequently. It was a good and practical suggestion that has made our weekly laundry days much easier.

What are your highlights in terms of details?

I find the laundry sorting cabinets with integrated baskets to be very well thought out. It's simply practical to store different types of laundry in separate drawers. This way, everything is already in the right place, and you don't have to reorganize everything before putting it in the washing machine. Additionally, I'm impressed by the attention to clever details in the planning. For example, the pipes were hidden behind a narrow cabinet, which enhances the overall impression of the room.

What do you particularly like about the overall concept?

Overall, the Nolte team has done an amazing job. We communicated our wishes, and the very first draft was so perfect that we adopted it exactly as it was. From idea generation to planning to installation, Nolte has brilliantly executed our passion project, and we are absolutely thrilled!

Stefanie, also known as @hausfuerfrieda, lives with her family in East Westphalia on the slopes of the Wiehen Mountains. She tells us in the interview how she integrates her kitchen into the overall design of the house and why she chose a black kitchen.

What challenges did you face when planning your kitchen? What was relatively easy, and what was a bit more difficult?

My prior experience with the layout of our old kitchen was a significant advantage. Based on the connections, it was clear that it should be another U-shaped kitchen. I'm generally quite decisive, so planning wasn't difficult for me, as I had collected ideas in the years before.

The absolute highlight of my kitchen is the half-height row with the appliances. I had this image in mind during the planning process; I didn't want a full-height black kitchen row. I actually put more thought into the kitchen backsplash. Here, I wanted to add an accent through wallpaper or texture, and I ended up with the solution of the black wooden slats, a DIY project that I also share on my account.

“Having a black kitchen fulfilled a little heartfelt wish for me.”

Where did the idea to share your life on Instagram come from?

To be honest, I came across Instagram and the beautiful house building and interior design accounts by chance. During the planning of our house, I searched for many ideas online and came across an Instagram profile through a link. I was immediately excited by the many accounts and their insights into their homes, and during the construction phase, I gathered ideas here. With the start of our construction project, I sought exchange on Instagram and shared my experiences. For me, it was primarily a home construction account, and I never thought I would stick with it. Now 5 years have passed, and I still enjoy it very much.

How do you manage to balance between Instagram and your private life?

My account primarily focuses on projects related to the house, garden, and interior design. Occasionally, I take my followers along on our trips and share ideas, but family life remains more private. Our adult children who still live with us don't want to be shown. So, I'm in the spotlight, my husband is featured as a hobby craftsman, and you often see our French Bulldog, Wilma, who makes an excellent Instagram model.

You used to have a white kitchen.

Why did you choose a black kitchen now?

When we started our construction project in 2018, our bright kitchen was only two years old. We had it designed for our semi-detached house, and we still liked it. But already during the construction of the new house, according to my family, I kept raving about a black kitchen. Nevertheless, we let reason prevail and initially moved our bright kitchen with us. So, when we finally got the black kitchen at the end of 2021, a little heartfelt wish of mine was fulfilled.

ALL OPTIONS AT A GLANCE

This is where you can quickly find your way about all available options: the next few pages show you our wide range of fronts that are manufactured in line with the innovative Matrix 150 grid system and can feature any handle you choose – all clearly structured by price group.

LAMINATE

A high-quality, soft mat and extremely hard-wearing laminate surface with anti-fingerprint properties.

LACQUERED LAMINATE

An extremely calm looking surface and optimum durability are characteristic of lacquered laminate. The fronts are made from an engineered wood panel with a lining lacquered in the course of the production process. High gloss or soft mat, just as you choose.

GENUINE LACQUER

High-gloss genuine lacquer fronts are lacquered in several coats and then polished to produce a sealed and particularly smooth surface. Besides high-gloss fronts, fronts are also available with a soft mat genuine lacquer finish. The latter captivates with its interesting feel.

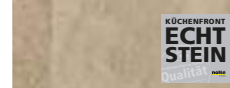

GENUINE GLASS

Genuine glass fronts – luxurious and homely. Coated with adhesive throughout, a back-lacquered pane of toughened safety glass is bonded to the high-quality substrate material. The extremely hard-wearing glass front gives the kitchen a modern transparency and feeling of space.

REAL WOOD

As an authentic and genuine natural product, wood conveys warmth and a sense of security. The natural variations in colour and texture visible in the grain are an inherent part of wood. Used in the kitchen, the natural material lends itself to quality craftsmanship while conveying its charm and character.

REAL METAL

The real metal fronts give your kitchen an authenticity that oozes with character: several layers of a mixture of metal particles, resins and colour are applied to a base panel made of engineered wood and sealed with clear lacquer. The result additionally impresses with a magnetic effect.

REAL CEMENT

The unusual feel of this surface is produced by creating irregular depressions in a panel made of engineered wood. It is then hand-coated with cement, silica and coloured lacquer and afterwards additionally sealed with clear varnish. Robust beauty for combinations so very rich in contrast.

REAL STONE

Stone is a pure, genuine natural material that radiates stability and durability. Natural variations in color and texture are unmistakable features. The surface made from a quartz-dolomite mixture creates a slightly rough texture that emphasizes the exceptional character of this material.
